

CADENZA

"This silence belongs to you... and every single person out there is waiting for you to fill it with something."

When placed under the spotlight, will your music be the most appealing?

Cadenza, presents artists an opportunity to showcase their skills and individuality in how they play their respective instruments, classical/western.

This is a platform where you battle it out with other musicians to see where you stand in this world of music.

Do you have what it takes to fill the silence?
